

Resenseo is an Online scientific review writing competition conducted by Anvesha, the science club of IISER Thiruvananthapuram, as a part of the National Science Day celebrations of 2019. The writers of the best reviews received in each of the four disciplines will be rewarded, and their articles will be published via the club blog. The rules of the competition are attached herewith:

- This is an individual event
- Participant must be currently enrolled as a student at any university.
- Each participant can send in a maximum of one entry, chosen from one of four disciplines. The subject codes are as follows
  - 1 - Physics
  - 2 - Chemistry
  - 3 - Mathematics
  - 4 - Biology
- The articles chosen for review should be one of two sent to you via email once you intimate your registration via the <http://anvesha.org.in/>. No other reviews will be considered for the competition.
- All entries must be written in English. Entries in other languages will not be considered for the competition.
- Mention the subject code and the article code on the top right corner of the sheet. (Example - for a review on the second paper in Biology, the Subject code is 4 and the article code is 2).
- Do not mention your name or details anywhere in your entry. These details should be included only in the email you will be sending us along with the review.
- The review must be of 800 words or less and should be sent in as a PDF document.
- The review must not be published elsewhere without the express permission of the club
- We strongly discourage plagiarism. Any instances of plagiarized content in your review will automatically disqualify you from the competition, so double check your manuscript before sending it to us.
- Failure to adhere to one or more of these guidelines will result in the disqualification of your entry and it will not be further processed.
- The Anvesha science club reserves the right to use and distribute the contents of the articles submitted for the competition and to revoke the prize awarded if any violation of the guidelines is found after the announcement of the prize.
- The entries will be judged by subject experts, who will rate the articles on the basis of clarity of thought, scientific accuracy, and grammatical fluency.
- The last date for submission of the reviews is 11th February 2019.
- Winners will be intimated via email by 28th February 2019
